
Welcome to

AAPAC

African-American Parent Advisory Council

The African-American Parent Advisory Council is an advocacy group made up of parents, families, teachers, administrators, community members and organizations, dedicated to promote quality education for African-American students.

Mission

Our goal is to increase academic achievement, family engagement as well as the capacity of school staff to engage and support all African-American students and families. We will advocate for programs, tools, resources and services that will support learning at home and preparation for college and career.

Join us at our next

AAPAC Meeting

Wednesday, November 13th

2:15 p.m. in the Library

Agenda

- ☐ *November school calendar, events and communications
- ☐ *Data of African-American students and school-home resources
- ☐ *Data on Reading and Math of African-American students
- ☐ *Open forum