

Meet the Teacher

MRS. WILLIAMS-SAMS

ENGLISH/ LEADERSHIP/ EC SEMINAR

GET TO KNOW ME

I attended UCSB for my undergrad where I double majored in English and Dramatic Art. I studied Dramatic Art in Canterbury, England my junior year of college. I earned my Single Subject Teaching Credential in English from Chico State in 2004. That's where I met my husband, Marcus Sams, and we have been together ever since. We have one daughter who is 15 months old and the light of our lives. I earned a M.S. degree in Educational Leadership along with an Administrative Credential in 2012 from CSU, East Bay. I have been a lifelong learner and lover of education. I have been teaching for 19 years and with MCHS for 16 years. I have the best students and I really enjoy all the time I get to spend with them.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Students will become socially and environmentally aware, critically thinking individuals. They will explore both their own and others' cultures and identities. They will expand their knowledge of the world and their ability to engage people who are different from them. They will develop their analytical skills. Students will:

- Read critically and comprehend a wide range of literature from different genres.
- Write in a logical and coherent way using standard English conventions.
- Structure ideas and arguments both orally and in writing.

FUN FACTS

In my free time, I enjoy reading, traveling, skiing (I actually got married while skiing- dress and all), snorkeling/scuba diving, dancing, theatre, and television (I love my stories written, live, and on the screen!). I was a dancer from the age of 4 through college. In high school, I was a cheerleader, choir member, and active member of student counsel/ ASB. My favorite color is blue. I require coffee to function in the morning. I love a good meal and spending time with family
