

Cerritans host 225 Jr. Statesmen at regional convention

El Cerrito High School will play host to 225 Junior Statesmen tomorrow.

The El Cerrito High School Junior Statesmen Chapter will host the first convention of the Golden Gate Region. Junior Statesmen in attendance will come from San Mateo, San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, and Sacramento counties, representing 20 schools.

Registration for the all day convention will begin at 8:30 in the Cafetorium. The formal proceedings will begin when Craig Swan, regional speaker, raps down his gavel at 9:30. The Reverend Dan L. Apra of the Arlington Community church will deliver the invocation.

Words of welcome will then be delivered by Judy Carver, convention chairman; Claude Samples, principal; and John Conway, Mayor of El Cerrito.

Mr. Ernest Besig, Executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California, will then address the delegates on the Civil Liberties Union and its work as well as the United States. A question period will follow Mr. Besig's address.

The next order of business will be the legislative section. John McQuillan of Pleasant Hill, regional mayor, will deliver a state of the region address to start the legislative session. A new regional constitution, introduced by Joe Allen of El Cerrito, will be the first piece of legislation considered by the assembly.

Following a break for lunch the delegates will reassemble in the cafetorium for the afternoon's legislative session. Resolutions introduced by various members of the assembly will make up the afternoon's legislation.

SECOND RECESS

A five o'clock break will give the delegates a chance to relax before dinner. Dinner will be served at 6:00 followed by entertainment and a dance.

Entertainment will be provided by Betty and the Boys, the Hilltoppers, Stephanie Zucker doing a monologue, and a "rock and roll" combo from De Anza High.

Work has been delegated to the following people: Speaker, Sid Smith; recreation, Bob Sellner; publicity, Don Fidler; floor, Ken Watt; registration, Margie Bewley; food, Brenda Rorden; and Entertainment, Josh Diamond.

Statesmen hold panel discussion

In the public interest, Junior Statesmen is sponsoring a panel to discuss the upcoming school tax and bond election. The fate of El Cerrito High School may well depend on the outcome of this election.

This panel is made up of four members including a teacher, an administrator, a school board member, and a parent. Panel members are, respectively, as follows: John Enos, Madeline Whittlesey, Walter Weyman, and parent Mrs. Frank Woodward.

Members of the panel will convene in the cafetorium at 8 pm on Wednesday, November 2. Refreshments consisting of coffee, punch and cookies will be served.

INVITATION EXTENDED

The public is cordially invited to this first-time event, and everyone is urged to come so that they may be better informed of the issues. In order to vote intelligently.

Unless the new tax rate of $1.80 is approved, our district will be forced to operate with a two million dollar loss, on a tax rate of 75¢.

Passage of the bond issue will check overcrowding in our existing schools by constructing two new junior high schools and providing for the construction of new classrooms in the district's present schools. Also, the girls in our school will have showers installed in their gymnasium.

Off Broadway '60 written by students

Written especially by Mike Ostrov

OFF BROADWAY '60 is an original show written by Bill Logan, Jack Jobe, Stan Brown, and Harvey Skee. These four directors conceived the idea for the show late last summer and put their ideas into practical use.

This assembly will be on Wednesday, November 2, during periods 3 and 3A.

The show starts with a lively dance number with Mary Johns, Bonnie Monaghan, Carole Cutter, Charline Lissolo, Brenda Monaghan, Robbie McKelvie, Madeline Bowman, and Maureen Meister doing a satire on 1930 dancing, followed by a pantomime of "Cocktails for Two" by Stephanie Zucker. Betty Morris has dropped the Playboys for a new musical approach to her singing.

A special number has been added especially for all the special football players who don't have the chance to watch the special pom-pom girls. So, a dance especially choreographed has been worked out by Rod Harris for the girls. Our special song is "Gonzos."

Lanine Tompkins and Bill Logan then burlesque "Indian Love Call."

The show ends with a satire on a typical Wagnerian Opera. The Wagnerian costumes were designed for the show by Ron Sherman.

Throughout the show, to keep the tempo up, there will be Blackouts, starring Stan Brown, Bill Logan, Lanine Tompkins, and Judy Dittinbir.

Two folksong groups will be featured. First Barbara Buchanan and Vicki Brishin, followed secondly by "The Hilltoppers"; Tom Mirsch, Floyd Smith, and Margie Bewley.

Also in the show are Stanette Chebul, Mike Ostrov, Arvis Whittecker, Nadya Connelly, Carla Hendel, Barbara Eoltan, Bob Logan, Daryl Hackbarth, and Harvey Skee.

'Aquatasia' highlights Junior Prom

Aquatasia, the Junior Prom, will be presented tonight in the cafetorium from 9 to 12.

Aquatasia is the first Junior Prom with an underwater theme ever to be held at El Cerrito High School.

Those people that attend the Junior Prom will be able to enjoy Hawaiian Punch and a variety of cookies. Music will be played by Ben Meltzer's Band, which will be placed in a shell to give the underwater effect.

The decorations will consist of a sunken ship, fish nets, glass balls, and reflections on the walls to make the underwater atmosphere.

Bids, which are on sale from any Junior Central Committee member, are being sold for $1.50.

Margie Bewley, Chairman of the Publicity Committee, said that this will be "the best dance that El Cerrito ever had; it will also have a better turnout than any other dance."

The chairmen of the committees are as follows: Karen Gadwood, Decorations; Marilyn Finn, Refreshments; Debbie Dreyer, Bids; Margie Bewley, Publicity; Dick Cunningham, Band; and Kirk Weaver, Budget.

Miss True believes in self-assurance

Miss True

The school and the students are the same, year in and year out according to Miss Elizabeth True, U.S. History and social studies teacher.

"I like the students that I have in my classes," said Miss True. "I believe that any student who tries hard for the grade he wants, whether it's an A or a B, can achieve the grade if he works hard enough and doesn't give up. Remember, all you need is self-assurance and self-confidence and there isn't much you can't do without them."

Miss True stated that although the school gets different pupils and different teachers every year it is just like it always was. They might have different personalities and characters but they are the same because they come to get an education and each student knows how important that is.

Modern chemistry lecture held

Last Tuesday evening, Los Sabios, the El Cerrito High School Science club, attended a lecture at the house of Mr. Beck--the club sponsor--given by Dr. Pitzner, of the University of California Chemistry Department. The topic of the lecture was "Modern Chemistry."

This lecture was planned by Clark Kerr, president of the Science Club; John Shively, vice president; David Jensen, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Beck, sponsor. The club has been in existence for many years, and this year, Los Sabios has approximately fifteen members.

Clark Kerr explained that two years ago, the club went to the Atomic Energy Plant near Vallejo.

More lectures and other items have been planned for the coming year.

Miss True has the distinction of being many different places. One year she went to summer school in London, England. In other trips she visited Holland, Paris, and Belgium and also made a tour of Italy. In 1953 she went to Cambridge.

Miss True went to Pomona College and came to El Cerrito during the war. When she came, the football field didn't exist, nor the cafeteria or the north wing for that matter.

Experience open with Nurses' club

Girls, what are your future plans? Do they include a career in medicine, or public or mental health?

If your plans do now include, or if you think they might if you just knew more about these fields, La Medicina is the club for you.

As members of La Medicina, girls have an opportunity to work with Hospitals, the Cammeron School, and other organizations such as health departments, the Red Cross, and UNICEF.

The purpose of La Medicina is for its members to gain knowledge and experience which will be valuable to them not only in their careers, but in everyday life.

La Medicina meets every Monday after school. Their sponsor is Miss Crank, and their officers are: Nancy Morgan, President; Chico Nahara, Vice President; Joanne Bradley, Secretary; Donna Hardesty, Historian; Karen Christian, Treasurer; and Linda Miller, Social Chairlady.

Although La Medicina is primarily a serious club organized for a serious purpose, the girls do have social activities too.

The members usually hold an average of two "fun" projects a semester. Their current one is a slumber party to be held November 4.

All saints' eve

Do you know what Halloween is? It's the Eve of All Hallows. Oh, a prettier name is the eve of the Festival of All Saints.

If you were by any chance born on Halloween, it's a superstitious belief that you converse with supernatural beings.

At the time that Halloween became a religion, the saints were known as All Hallows. All Saints Day is November 1, the day after Halloween.

Halloween is also associated with witchcraft's imagination as being the occurrence of supernatural influences and it's clearly a relic of pagan times.

Mrs. Bryan attends Asilomar conference

Mrs. Geraldine Bryan, Junior English teacher at El Cerrito, was a representative to an English conference at Asilomar, California, held during the weekend of September 30 to October 2.

Six hundred teachers from the central region of California met and divided into nineteen groups to discuss the various phases and problems of teaching English. Mrs. Bryan chose to join the group that delved into the problems of stimulating the reading interests of more able students.

"It was an interesting topic, and the ideas presented left me inspired and eager to try them out on my own students."

The representatives were privileged to hear the noted Mr. C. P. Snow speak on "The Two Cultures and Scientific Revolution." This was a speech that he had prepared and presented for an address to the students of the Cambridge University in 1959.

Mr. Snow stated that there is a "real lack of communication between physical scientists and literary intellectuals. Physical science is becoming increasingly indifferent and scornful of literary culture. Literary intellectuals denounce physical scientists."

If such action is not taken, and there is no bridge across this gap of denunciation, serious problems will evolve."

He continued that Russia admits her problem is largely her lack of scientific writers. This sets a broad gulf before scientific advancement so important to this modern era.

Mr. Snow summed up his beliefs concerning a remedy for this disagreement in an appeal to English teachers to "Teach your subject with devotion and intelligence. Teach science to literary intellectuals; give them some idea of how scientists work and feel. And especially teach scientists how to write intelligently."

Mr. Snow concluded on the note that "Science and human relations are the only hopes we have for the future of the world!"

Asilomar is in the Monterey-Carmel region and accordingly the representatives were able to do some shopping and were served a "wonderful Chinese dinner" at the Chinese gardens near Monterey. "But don't write that," Mrs. Bryan chuckled. "I'd rather they thought we slaved all weekend!"

Three of the teachers at the conference were from the Richmond district: Mr. Matthews, Vice Principal at Downer, represented the school administration at large; Mrs. Bryan represented the senior high; and Mrs. Nelson from Granada represented the junior high division.

Junior Class President very active

the same number of sophomores and juniors as last year.

He would like to major in law or Political Science. Of all the colleges, he wants to attend Stanford the most, but Jeff said, "My hopes of going there are not real good!"

Jeff urged people to come to the Junior Prom and he is hoping for a big turnout.

When Jeff has leisure time he likes to read, play golf, listen to music and occasionally watch T.V. Most of his summer was spent as a counselor in a day camp. As for hobbies he likes all sports, especially basketball and golf.

Jeff's subjects include P.E., French 3, English 3, U.S. History, Algebra 2 and Study. He plans to follow the normal procedure to get to college by taking the recommended subjects.

Mademoiselle

by Judy Carver

The tennis ball is one of the most dangerous weapons at El Cerrito High School.

Perhaps you have never noticed what goes on in the girl's gym while they are attempting to learn how to play tennis. Some 50 or so girls are lined up against one side of the girl's gym and each is issued a tennis ball and a tennis racket.

Tennis rackets are made with frames of wood and strung in a cross-hatched manner with nylon strings. Tennis balls are made of rubber covered with felt, and when thrown up into the air and struck with a racket, act as a small bomb.

All 50 or so of the girls lined up at the wall of the girl's gym are given a signal, and, as the teacher madly dashes from the room, the girls begin to fire away.

The purpose of this session is to teach the girls of El Cerrito how to serve a tennis ball. Now, because all the girls of El Cerrito are not experts at tennis, the ball served does not always return to the server.

When this happens, your ball is left in the middle of an area which is being bombed with other tennis balls. This presents a problem. You must rush out to the center of the gym, grab your ball, and dash back to your place against the wall. This is impossible to do without being hit.

A tennis ball has much force, and when you are hit in the back with one as you stoop over to pick up your own ball, it is inevitable you will fall flat on your face.

Independent Californian lauded

It has been said that high school students ape university students, but we have discovered a case where some university students are acting worse than high school students.

The university students we refer to are members of the Associated Students of the University of California Executive Committee. Their action to which we are referring is their attempt to take over the ASUC paper, the Daily Californian.

At first the Ex Com tried unsuccessfully to force the senior editorial board of the Daily Cal into resigning. When that measure failed the Ex Com tried, by amending the by-laws of the Daily Cal, to control the selection of personnel to the editorial board. Realizing that this was just the first in a series of moves to bring the editorial positions of the paper under the control of the Ex Com, editor Dan Silver, the rest of the editorial board, and most of the staff of the Daily Cal resigned.

The whole issue began when the paper endorsed Mike Tiger, candidate for Representative-at-large on the executive committee. This action while completely within the by-laws of the paper was unprecedented in the 84 year history of the paper.

The old staff of the Daily Cal set up their own paper, the Independent Californian, to bring to the university students "an independent, valid student journalistic effort." El Caballero, believing in freedom of the press for freedom of action and freedom from governmental oppression, heartily endorses the efforts of editor Silver and his staff and is proud to recognize the names of two former El Caballero staff members, Mike Doan and Charles Tonelli, as participants with editor Silver for "independent, valid student journalism."

Personality Plus

by Linda Miller

Ever wonder what it would be like to have a song written especially for you, and to have that song sung by Randy Sparks.

This is exactly what has happened to Julie Dickson, this week's personality.

"Randy Sparks is a very good friend of the family. I think it is only small fabulous that he is the one who recorded 'Julie Anne'. For his sake I hope it's a huge success.

"I meet a lot of entertainers through my father and the station (ed. note; Julie's father is Director of Publicity at KMPC, a radio station in Los Angeles,) but this is the first time anything like this has ever happened.

Among the many famous people Julie has gotten to know through her father are: Annette, "She's wonderful! Not at all like most of the professional kids-she acts just like anybody else." Jimmy Darren, "Jim is almost like a big brother to me, only a lot noisier," Bobby Darin, "I've only seen Bobby a few times. He's a wonderful entertainer." Tab Hunter, "The few times I have been around Mr. Hunter I have been very much unimpressed. He's cute, but he tries too hard to impress people." And Kim Novak, "I adore her! Kim is one of my father's clients, but I don't get to see her too often. She's so very busy. It's not at all uncommon for her to be doing three things at once, and they all will turn out perfectly.

LONE ★ STAR

I always thought that a pot-pourri was a stew or something, but I reckon it's not...it's a confused mixture.

I know someone who is in a stew, however. He thought everybody liked him...they should...he was on his class central committee.

This year, though, my class has...accomplished something (?). They've come up with that great Junior Prom theme.....Sea Hunt.

Lot's of people have said that it is all wet....and I believe that it's sunk already, because only a few junior gals are going.

Aren't these t-v debates wonderful?....so many important (?) issues bein' raised. There is one major issue which, so far, has not been brought up...viewer interest. If a few commercials were put in, it might liven things up a bit...I'm still wondering whether or not Mr. Samples fell asleep during the last debate, as he did during the second one.

Joyously, and with great anxiety, I discovered a fact about the Building and Grounds Committee. Joyously, because Eugene Matteucci, the chairman, is so good at looking into things...and anxiously, I wait to see if they will carry on last year's tradition of not doing anything.

If you think that farm life in a small town of 600 people is dull, you couldn't be more mistaken.

We stayed in a small town while seeing our relatives. I've never had so much fun in all my life.

"TEXAS" BOB SELLNER

Julie is in her junior year at 'Fernando High, in the San Fernando Valley, where she is Assistant Student Coordinator of Publicity, which is the equivalent of our Commissioner of Publicity.

"In a way this is really pretty funny. My duty is to keep the radio stations informed about all school activities.

Future plans? "I don't really have any decisive plans yet. Except that I do want to go to college, and that I don't want to get married for at least eight years, nine and one half months.

Beware! Fountain stuffers on the loose

It has now become inevitable that when you use one of our drinking fountains there will be one or more misplaced or lost articles stuck, lying, or wedged in the fountain.

Of course, there's a reason. Isn't there always? Usually it's because you couldn't have possibly walked five more feet to one of the frequently placed garbage cans or for certain you'd have been tardy to class. Again, it may have been because the receptical was absent (funny how after class it reappeared. The janitor must have taken it to empty). Everyone understands, though; everyone, that is except the next person to use the fountain.

No doubt this facility is a pack rat's paradise. Among the assorted wads of gum one may have the nauseating fortune to find a half-chewed Juicy Fruit or a hunk of licorice. The luckiest find crumpled paper bags and with extra luck the bag may contain a slowly rotting banana or some waxed paper.

The choicest items, however, are those wedged in the spout. Dying of thirst you rush to a drinking fountain, forcefully turn the handle and then to your dismay H₂O splatters in all directions and in particular on your twenty dollar Pendleton shirt.

Oh well!!! That's the way the cookie bounces. You'll remember for the future to drink water only at home or to avoid wearing that Pendleton, while the danger of drinking fountains prevails.

Gauchos, Oilers Duel At Richmond Today At 3:15

SPORTS REVIEW

Gliebe running for touchdown

On a fog-enveloped field the El Cerrito Gauchos defeated the De Anza Dons 34 to 12. De Anza had trouble getting anywhere while the Gauchos marched for five touchdowns.

In the first quarter neither team could move the ball. They traded the ball five times before the Gauchos got their first tally. El Cerrito took a De Anza punt on the 48 yard line. Jim Gliebe picked up a yard and then Frank Lacy rambled for a first down. Jerry Strong followed by running another nine yards to the 33 yard line. After this play the gun ending the first quarter went off. The teams moved to the opposite end of the field and the Gauchos resumed their drive. Mike Doyle smashed for five yards up to the 38 and then Rich Kayfes threw a strike to Schmidt for a 23 yard gain. With the ball on the five yard line, Strong charged in for the score. Jim Kinnison kicked the P.A.T. and the Gauchos led 7 to 0.

After the kick-off De Anza moved the ball to the 18 yard line of the Gauchos, with the help of a holding penalty and a piling on penalty. The Dons drive was stopped by good defensive play by the Gauchos. Don halfback Barron was stopped for a two yard gain and then quarterback Weiss was halted for no yards. After Walters was held to no gain, Weiss threw into the endzone but Frank and Schmidt were there to knock it down.

The Gauchos could not get the ball moving so they kicked the ball to the 38 yard line. But El Cerrito got a break as clipping was called on De Anza. El Cerrito retained the ball on the 40 yard line.

Doyle ran for six and then a holding penalty on De Anza moved the ball to the De Anza 45. On third and nine Kayfes threw to Muedeking on the twenty for a first down. A piling on penalty placed the Gauchos on the six. Strong powered to the three where Lacy went in for the T.D. The try for the extra point was blocked.

De Anza took the kick on the 27 but two plays later the Dons were back on the five---third down and 37 to go. Walters was stopped for short yardage and the Dons were forced to punt. Karl Frank, who had come close to blocking two other kicks, stormed through and blocked this one out of the endzone for two points.

Starting the second half the Gauchos wasted no time in getting another score. Copher took the kick to the 38 where the Gauchos began to roll. The Gauchos rambled to the 36 in Don territory in three plays, Gliebe picking up seven, Lacy three, and Strong 16 yards. Gliebe went the rest of the way on a double reverse. The P.A.T. was again blocked and now the Gauchos led by 21 to 0.

No sooner did the Dons get their hands on the ball than they lost it again. A Don fumbled the pig-skin and Bob Rhinehardt was there to pounce on it. After two plays Doyle went in for the E.C. tally. The green and white led by 27 to 0 over the hapless Dons.

The fog closed in making it increasingly difficult to see what the players were doing on the field. De Anza got on the scoreboard on a pass from Melton, now in at quarterback for the Dons, to someone in the fog. The try for the conversion was not good and the score stood 27 to 6.

De Anza kicked-off to the 30 where Strong ran it to the 46. An El Cerrito man fumbled and De Anza took over. The third quarter ended with the Dons on the 44 yard line. From here the Dons went into score on a series of nine plays. The Dons again failed to make the extra point and the Gauchos were ahead 27 to 12.

De Anza got off a short kick taken by Bill Landstra to the 44 yard line. The Gauchos went on to score with Gliebe and Strong doing most of the carrying. Copher carried the ball inside the ten and Dave Thurm ran in for the score.

De Anza kicked-off to the 30 where Strong ran it to the 46. An El Cerrito man fumbled and De Anza took over.

The Dons advanced the ball to the E.C. 5 yard line before their time ran out. The players left the field in a cloud of fog, the Gauchos winning their first league game, and the Dons losing their fifth straight game.

CROSS-COUNTRY

After the disappointment at Arroyo two weeks ago, the El Cerrito Cross Country team has made some real improvement. The entire varsity improved last week at De Anza with Mark Morgan again leading the Gaucho team.

Mark Morgan had the third best time ever run by a Gaucho runner. He ran the 1.8 mile course in 9:00 flat. Jessie Ochoa's 8:36 and Charles Belcher who did the course in 8:55 are the only times better than Morgans.

Some other runners that show good promise for the future are Dwight Sanford, 9:40; Mike Dones 9:44; and Pete Mason, 9:40. All these runners are Juniors. For the first time this season a Junior Varsity was represent at the meet. Dave Balmforth had the best El Cerrito time doing 10:23, followed by Kent Bousfield 10:30 and Daryl Hackbarth doing 10:35.

The Frosh-Soph team came in second, being edged out by Richmond. Again leading the Frosh-Soph team were Jim Eaneman with an outstanding time of 9:57, and Bill Steels close behind running a 10:10.

G.A.A., Block C Have Picnic

Last Friday, October 21, Block C and G.A.A. council left El Cerrito at 3:30 for a picnic at Tilden Park.

At the Picnic, which lasted until 6:00, the girls roasted hot dogs and played baseball and football.

Those who attended the picnic were, Mrs. Bertram, sponsor of G.A.A.; Miss Ronne, sponsor of Block C; Joanne Fritz, President of Block C; Nancy Hurd, President of G.A.A.; Gloria Lum, Vice President of G.A.A. and Secretary of Block C; Tuula Tenturi, Secretary of G.A.A.; Sally Smith, Treasurer of G.A.A.; Maureen Voss, Treasurer of Block C; and Stanette Chebul, Historian of Block C.

Others attending were, Sharon Hurrych, Rita Regalia, Elsie Pollard, Addie Jones, Vicky Cole and Evelyn Pereira, managers.

Today, the El Cerrito Gauchos will travel to Richmond for the big game of the season against their arch-rivals, the Richmond Oilers. After making a clean sweep over DeAnza last Friday, the Gauchos will buckle down for one of the most important games of the season.

Both the Oilers and the Gauchos operate from a winged "T" formation. This means that there will be more faking with the ball than Berkeley used two weeks ago with their single wing. The players to watch for on the Oiler team are Bob Battle, who scored 12 points and rolled up 87 yards against Vallejo and Ura Campbell, a 9:9 100-yard dash sprinter who will be on the wing.
